

super in second Grade

December 1, 2015
Superin2ndgrade.weebly.com
leslie.allen@nkcschools.org

Reading

We are learning about an author's purpose for writing. Specifically, we are looking at why an author writes non-fiction. Non-fiction books are usually written to describe, explain or answer a question. Students will be looking at the internal structure of the book to decide the purpose.

WRITING- INFORMATIONAL

We are learning how to write informational books. Students will be writing 2 different books. The first one will focus on something that the students already know a lot about. The second book will require research.

This unit will focus on the non-fiction text features, staying on topic, how to research and how to use complete sentences.

MATH

We are back to place value, addition, and subtraction. This unit will focus on breaking numbers down in different ways. In a few weeks, we will really be focusing on the standard algorithm for addition.

HOMEWORK

Read for 20 minutes
Play the math game assigned
Flash Cards
Spelling Sort

